SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: No comments were received during the specified comment period.

ORDER OF RULEMAKING

By the authority vested in the Credit Union Commission under section 370.063, RSMo Supp. 1998, the commission adopts a rule as follows:

4 CSR 105-2.010 is adopted.

A notice of proposed rulemaking containing the text of the proposed rule was published in the Missouri Register on August 2, 1999 (24 MoReg 1833-1838). The section with changes is reprinted here. This proposed rule becomes effective thirty days after publication in the Code of State Regulations.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: The Credit Union commission received two comment letters pertaining to this proposal during the specified comment period. One comment letter was from a credit union and the other comment letter was from a credit union trade association.

COMMENT: The credit union wrote, "Costs should be assessed to the party(s) that have requested the commissions hearing, whether or not they are the prevailing party." The credit union trade association wrote, ". . . we feel the costs associated with appealing a decision of the director of credit unions should generally be the responsibility of the appealing party. The commission should have the flexibility of assessing these costs."

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: The commission agrees that charging the costs of a hearing to the non-prevailing party might not always be the best and fairest approach. The commission also agrees that preserving the commission's discretion in these matters, consistent with 370.063, RSMo would be beneficial. The commission has amended the proposal to allow the commission discretion in assessing the costs of hearings.

4 CSR 105-2.010 Rules of Procedure

(4) Costs. The commission will obtain the services of a court reporter to transcribe the hearing. The costs of original and seven (7) copies of the transcript and the actual and necessary expenses incurred by the commission in the retention of hearing officers, commission-appointed attorneys, the per-diem compensation of the members of the commission, and any other costs assessed by the commission may be taxed against a party as determined by the commission.

ORDER OF RULEMAKING

By the authority vested in the Credit Union Commission under section 370.063, RSMo Supp. 1998, the commission adopts a rule as follows:

4 CSR 105-3.010 is adopted.

A notice of proposed rulemaking containing the text of the proposed rule was published in the Missouri Register on August 2, 1999 (24 MoReg 1839). The sections with changes are reprinted here. This proposed rule becomes effective thirty days after publication in the Code of State Regulations.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: The Credit Union Commission received four comment letters pertaining to this proposal during the specified comment period. Two comment letters were from credit unions, one comment letter was from a credit union trade association, and one comment letter was from a banking trade association.

COMMENT: One credit union wrote that the terms “common interests” and “interact” were somewhat vague and suggested enhancement. This credit union also wrote that the term “insufficient access” should be defined. Another credit union wrote that the terms “common interests,” “interact with each other,” “insufficient access,” “local neighborhood,” and “credit union services” should be clearly defined or examples of groups complying with these definitions should be given. This credit union also wrote, “Failing to clearly define terms or providing incomplete definitions invites judicial review to resolve conflicting opinion.”

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE The commission believes that the definitions of these terms provide adequate direction to the division of credit unions to implement rules related to field of membership expansions in compliance with credit union statutes. The commission and the division will, and intends for others to, interpret these terms based on the “common meanings” of the words within these phrases, except for instances in which standard or common usage within the credit union movement varies from the “common meaning,” in which case the “standard or common usage within the credit union movement” shall prevail. The commission believes that the phrase “and interact with one another” could be stricken from this definition, making the definition easier to understand, without significantly altering the implementation of this rule as envisioned by the commission.

COMMENT: A credit union trade association wrote, “We agree with and support the Commission’s definition of a well-defined local neighborhood, community or rural district.”

RESPONSE: The commission appreciates the credit union trade association’s concurrence on this issue.

COMMENT: A banking trade association wrote: “The definition of ‘Well defined local neighborhood . . .’ outlined in section 370.080.3 RSMo, emphasizes the word ‘local.’ The MBA believes that a ‘metropolitan statistical area’ is a region and not local community, and consequently is beyond the scope of the statute and should be stricken from the regulation. Any larger district than a ‘local’ community is unlawful. Furthermore, well defined local neighborhood is a limited and specific geographic area; it has nothing to do with ‘an area which includes persons who have common interests and interact with one another,’ which defines an employer group or other group with a common bond. The entire United States includes persons who have common interests and interact with one another. While the terms included in definitions may be defined by the Commission, the Commission ignores common sense and legal precedent at its own risk. The terms ‘metropolitan statistical area’ and ‘an area which includes persons who have common interests and interact with one another’ should be stricken from this regulation.”

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: The commission believes that the phrase “and interact with one another” could be stricken from this definition, making the definition easier to understand, without significantly altering the implementation of this rule as envisioned by the commission. However, the commission believes that an essential component of a “well defined local neighborhood, community or rural district” is that it be populated by “persons who have common interests.” This is a criterion the commission has developed, consistent with Missouri credit union statutes, in order to identify well defined local neighborhoods, communities or rural districts. The commission has amended the proposal to strike the phrase “and interact with one another” from the proposed rule.

The commission believes that documenting that persons in a metropolitan statistical area have common interests may be a somewhat difficult task. In addition, no credit unions have expressed an interest in applying to serve metropolitan statistical areas. Given this, the commission has concluded that striking the phrase “metropolitan statistical area” from this definition would improve this definition. The commission has amended the proposal to strike the phrase “metropolitan statistical area” from the proposed rule.

COMMENT: A credit union trade association wrote, “. . . we believe the inclusion of the word ‘legally’ before the word ‘adoptive’ is redundant and could present major problems for credit unions. To include the word ‘legally’ will require a credit union to be presented a legal document before it could accept an adopted person as a member.”

RESPONSE: When drafting this definition, the commission included the word “legally” to differentiate between legal adoptions and more informal adoptive relationships. The commission does not consider this distinction to be redundant. The commission also believes that credit unions will be able to verify the existence of legally adoptive relationships in a manner similar to that used to verify the existence of other family relationships.

COMMENT: A banking trade association wrote: “The definition of ‘Immediate Family’ is a term of art which is also included in the statute, in section 370.080.3; it is a limitation on the credit union’s expansion. The statute reads in part, ‘No individual shall be eligible for membership in a credit union on the basis of the relationship of such individual to another person who is eligible for membership in such credit union unless the individual is a member of the immediate family (emphasis added). . . .’ The above definition is expanded in the regulation to include ‘cousin’ as one of the categories of relatives that may join the credit union. It is estimated that citizens of the same racial group in the United States have a relationship of a cousin in at least the 7th degree. The term ‘cousin’ should be stricken from this regulation.”

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: The commission believes that the inclusion of the term “cousin” in this definition, without any additional qualifiers, may be overly broad. Given this, the commission has amended the proposed rule by inserting the word “first” before the word “cousin.”

COMMENT: A credit union trade association wrote, “The Commission should be commended for having the foresight to illustrate the difference between ‘underserved’ and ‘low income’ communities. The simplification of this definition will assist the credit union in determining whether the addition of an underserved area into its field of membership is practical and manageable.”

RESPONSE: The commission appreciates the credit union trade association’s comment on this issue.

COMMENT: A banking trade association wrote: “The definition of ‘Underserved Community’ makes a mockery of any attempt to limit the credit union in terms of geographic area. The Rule provides that an ‘Underserved Community’ is a community that is not served by a credit union regardless of the other financial intermediaries available to that community. The definition of ‘Underserved Community’ should be changed by striking the words ‘to credit union services’ and adding to the sentence, ‘to financial intermediary services of any kind including bank services.’”

RESPONSE: The commission believes that the proposed definition of “Underserved Community” is consistent with Missouri credit union statutes. No change was made to this proposed rule as a result of this comment.

4 CSR 105-3.010 Definitions

(1) “Well defined local neighborhood, community or rural district” is defined as a city, township, county, telephone area code, zip code, or other geographical areas with clearly defined boundaries, and/or an area which includes persons who have common interests.

(2) "Immediate family" is defined as spouse, child, sibling, parent, grandparent, grandchild, aunt, uncle, niece, nephew, first cousin or legal guardian and includes step, in-law, and legally adoptive relationships.

Chapter 3—Credit Union Membership and Chartering

ORDER OF RULEMAKING

By the authority vested in the Credit Union Commission under section 370.063, RSMo Supp. 1998, the commission adopts a rule as follows:

4 CSR 105-3.020 is adopted.

A notice of proposed rulemaking containing the text of the proposed rule was published in the Missouri Register on August 2, 1999 (24 MoReg 1839). The section with changes is reprinted here. This proposed rule becomes effective thirty days after publication in the Code of State Regulations.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: The Credit Union Commission received four comment letters pertaining to this proposal during the specified comment period. Two comment letters were from credit unions, one comment letter was from a credit union trade association, and one comment letter was from a banking trade association.

COMMENT: One credit union wrote that item (1) of the rule was poorly worded and that it was unclear whether the evidence of compliance with the stated criteria should be submitted in writing to the director or if the director would issue a writing stating how he made the determination to approve each field of membership expansion.

RESPONSE: The portion of the rule commented on requires the director to make a determination in writing that certain criteria are met. This determination will be made by the director, in writing, based on information contained in the application that each credit union must complete when requesting new groups or areas. The commission believes that this rule clearly identifies the director as the party required to take the required actions. No change was made to this proposed rule as a result of this comment.

COMMENT: One credit union wrote that the terms "satisfactory progress," "adverse conditions," and "regulatory concerns" should be defined, the terms "administrative capability" and "financial resources" should be explained, and the term "reasonable progress" should be defined/explained. Another credit union wrote that subsection (1)(C) needs further expansion to include examples (clearly characterized as guidelines and not limits) of adequate evidence of the credit union's "administrative capability and the financial resources to serve the proposed group."

RESPONSE: The commission believes these terms are adequately defined and that the division of credit unions will apply these criteria in a fair, consistent, and reasonable manner. The commission and the division will, and intends for others to, interpret these terms based on the "common meanings" of the words within these phrases, except for instances in which standard or common usage within the credit union movement varies from the "common meaning," in which case the "standard or most common usage within the credit union movement" shall prevail. No change was made to this proposed rule as a result of this comment.

COMMENT: A credit union trade association wrote that they opposed the inclusion of the term "any adverse conditions" with respect to approving a field of membership expansion. The credit union trade association also wrote, "A credit union should be operating in a safe and sound manner and should certainly be addressing any regulatory concerns. These are measurable and understandable requirements. The term 'any adverse conditions' is subjective and possibly unmeasurable. In addition, there may be adverse conditions affecting a credit union that are totally out of the credit union's control and which may warrant the addition of a new group in order to strengthen the credit union."

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: The commission believes that additional guidance concerning the term "adverse conditions" may be helpful to credit unions, the division, and other interested parties. Given this, the commission has amended this proposed rule by inserting the phrase "including but not limited to areas of concern identified in the most recent supervisory examination report" after the word "conditions" and also by inserting the word "other" after the word "or."

COMMENT: A credit union trade association wrote, "We support the requirement that a credit union be adequately capitalized with a net capital ratio of at least 7 percent, except in special circumstances. The language of the proposal allows the director enough flexibility to recognize that adding a new group may breathe life into a struggling credit union."

RESPONSE: The commission appreciates the credit union trade association's concurrence on this issue.

COMMENT: A banking trade association wrote: "While the regulation provides that the credit union should have a 'net capital of not less than 7 percent'; the regulation is open ended. Provided the Director of the division of credit unions determines that the credit union is making 'reasonable progress towards meeting the 7 percent . . . requirement' the goal is waived. Does this mean that two or more under capitalized credit unions may merge to create a much larger undercapitalized credit union?" The banking trade association then offered suggested revisions to the wording of the regulation.

RESPONSE: The commission believes that it is appropriate for the director of the division of credit unions to have discretionary authority to approve additional membership groups for credit unions with net capital less than 7%. This rule clearly states that the capitalization requirements contained in the rule apply ". . . exclusively for the purpose of adding new membership groups." This rule does not address nor is it intended that it address credit union mergers. No change was made to this proposed rule as a result of this comment.

COMMENT: A banking trade association wrote: "The entire regulation 3.020(1) does not provide adequate standards for admitting additional groups to an existing credit union. If safety and soundness, adequate capital and administrative capability are ascertainable standards, then the words, 'the formation of a separate group is not practical' is no standard at all!" The banking trade association then offered suggested revisions to the wording of the regulation.

RESPONSE: The practicality of the formation of a new credit union is only one of several criteria that the director must consider. The commission believes that this rule adequately establishes criteria for the director of the division of credit unions to consider when evaluating field of membership expansion requests. No change was made to this proposed rule as a result of this comment.

4 CSR 105-3.020 Criteria for Additional Membership Groups

(1) The director will approve the addition of groups to a credit union's field of membership, if the director determines in writing that the following criteria are met:

(A) The credit union is operating in a safe and sound manner and is making satisfactory progress in addressing any adverse conditions, including but not limited to areas of concern identified in the most recent supervisory examination report, or other regulatory concerns that may exist;

(B) The credit union is "adequately capitalized." The commission defines adequately capitalized, exclusively for the purpose of adding new membership groups, to mean that the credit union has a net capital ratio of not less than seven percent (7%). The director may determine that a net capital ratio of less than seven percent (7%) is adequate if the credit union is making reasonable progress toward meeting the seven percent (7%) net capital requirement;

(C) The credit union has the administrative capability and the financial resources to serve the proposed group; and

(D) The formation of a separate credit union by such group is not practical and consistent with reasonable standards for the safe and sound operation of a credit union.

Title 4—DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENTDivision 105—Credit Union Commission*Chapter 3—Credit Union Membership and Chartering*ORDER OF RULEMAKING

By the authority vested in the Credit Union Commission under section 370.063, RSMo Supp. 1998, the commission adopts a rule as follows:

4 CSR 105-3.030 is adopted.

A notice of proposed rulemaking containing the text of the proposed rule was published in the Missouri Register on August 2, 1999 (24 MoReg 1839–1840). The section with changes is reprinted here. This proposed rule becomes effective thirty days after publication in the Code of State Regulations.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: The Credit Union Commission received two comment letters pertaining to this proposal during the specified comment period. One comment letter was from a credit union and another was from a banking trade association.

COMMENT: One credit union wrote that use of the term "on site investigation" in item (2) is overly restrictive and implies the existence of a physical location for the proposed credit union that may not (and in fact is unlikely to) exist at the time the division is considering the application.

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: Pre-chartering investigations are usually performed at the site of the proposed credit union. However, the commission does not believe that pre-chartering investigations necessarily have to be performed on site. The commission believes that the on-site requirement can be deleted from the proposed rule without hindering the ability of the division of credit unions to conduct pre-chartering investigations. The commission has amended the proposal by deleting the word on-site.

COMMENT: This same credit union wrote that examples of what kinds of evidence might be considered in evaluating the "character and fitness of proposed management," the "degree of membership support," and the "adequacy of the proposed credit union's business plan" would help the director to avoid conflict with the applicant or the commission over such evaluations, while also providing the potential credit union organizer a clearer initial understanding of the kinds of evidence that will generally be considered in evaluating the proposed credit union's application for charter.

RESPONSE: The commission believes that it has provided sufficient direction to the division of credit unions to ensure that investigations are conducted in a thorough and professional manner, with minimal conflict. In addition, the commission believes that the process followed when considering new charter proposals provides potential charter applicants with sufficient understanding of the kinds of evidence that will be evaluated when considering a new charter. No change was made to this proposed rule as a result of this comment.

COMMENT: A banking trade association wrote, "Emergency and Proposed 4 CSR 105-3.030(1) & (2) provides that a start up credit union must meet vague standards, and at least on surface there appears to be a bias against start up credit unions."

RESPONSE: The commission believes that the criteria established in this rule are not vague, and provide the division of credit unions sufficient direction concerning the types of factors to be considered when evaluating a charter application. The commission does not believe that the rule exhibits a bias against startup credit unions, but does believe that this rule expresses the desire of the commission to gain reasonable assurances that a newly charter credit union will be successful. No change was made to this proposed rule as a result of this comment.

4 CSR 105-3.030 Economic Advisability

(2) The Division of Credit Unions will conduct an investigation of each charter application to ensure that the proposed credit union can be successful. This investigation will include an evaluation of—

(A) The character and fitness of proposed management;

(B) The degree of membership support; and

(C) The adequacy of the proposed credit union's business plan.

Title 4—DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENTDivision 120—State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors*Chapter 2—General Rules*ORDER OF RULEMAKING

By the authority vested in the State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors under sections 333.111.1, RSMo Supp. 1998 and 333.121, RSMo 1994, the board amends a rule as follows:

A notice of proposed rulemaking containing the text of the proposed amendment was published in the Missouri Register on September 1, 1999 (24 MoReg 2128–2129). The sections with changes are reprinted here. This proposed amendment becomes effective thirty days after publication in the Code of State Regulations.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: The State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors did not receive any comments regarding the proposed amendment, however, noted that the examination furnished by the International Conference of Funeral Service Examining Boards, Inc. is the nationally prepared State Board Funeral Arts Examination. Therefore, the board changed the purpose statement and section (10) of the rule to accurately reflect the title of the examination.

4 CSR 120-2.060 Funeral Directing

PURPOSE: This amendment establishes the nationally prepared State Board Funeral Service Arts Examination furnished by the International Conference of Funeral Services Examining Boards, Inc. as the board's practical examination and exempts applicants who have already taken and passed the National Board Funeral Service Arts Examination or the State Board Funeral Service Arts Examination from taking the board's practical examination.

(10) Effective September 1, 2000, the nationally prepared State Board Funeral Service Arts Examination furnished by the International Conference of Funeral Service Examining Boards, Inc. will be administered by the board as its practical funeral director examination. Any applicant who provides evidence of having successfully completed the National Board Funeral Service Arts Examination or the State Board Funeral Service Arts Examination is exempt from the funeral director practical examination.

Therefore, the board changed the purpose statement to accurately reflect the title of the examination.

4 CSR 120-2.100 Fees

PURPOSE: Beginning September 1, 2000, the board will be administering the nationally prepared State Board Funeral Service Arts Examination, as the practical examination rather than the currently administered funeral director practical examination. ORDER OF RULEMAKING

By the authority vested in the director of the Department of Health under sections 190.103, 190.108, 190.109, 190.131, 190.133, 190.134 and 190.185, RSMo Supp. 1998, the director adopts a rule as follows:

19 CSR 30-40.303 is adopted.

A notice of proposed rulemaking containing the text of the proposed rule was published in the Missouri Register on September 1, 1999 (24 MoReg 2149-2155). No changes have been made in the proposed rule, so it is not reprinted here. This proposed rule becomes effective thirty days after publication in the Code of State Regulations.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: The Department of Health received two letters during the comment period on this proposed rule.

COMMENT: One comment was received recommending that section (2)A.1. be deleted and that physicians who are board certified in emergency medicine be added to (2)A.2. so that they are required to maintain ACLS, ATLS and PALS or documentation of equivalent education in cardiac care, trauma care and pediatric care within the past five (5) years.

RESPONSE: The director disagreed with this comment because board certified emergency medicine physicians are already required to maintain continuous medical education related to the practice of emergency medicine by virtue of the board certification.

COMMENT: One comment was received recommending that the wording "equivalent education" specify a minimum number of hours to meet the equivalent education requirement.

RESPONSE: The director disagreed with this comment because equivalent number of hours is based upon current ACLS, ATLS and PALS course requirements. These requirements may change in the future as course curriculum is adjusted to meet current trends and research.

COMMENT: One comment was received addressing (1)A.2. It is our understanding that this comment actually is addressing (2)A.2. The comment addressed questions as to the requirement for board certification in any specialty other than emergency medicine, as well as the need for a written agreement between physicians who are board certified with those who are not.

RESPONSE: The director disagreed with this comment because physicians who are board certified have successfully completed a higher level of training than those who are not board certified. This should better prepare them to assist the local medical director who may not have the higher level of training.

COMMENT: One comment was received regarding concerns that there may be a shortage of credentialed physicians in the rural areas who can meet the requirements of this regulation.

RESPONSE: The director disagrees with this comment because this regulation allows for the use of the local "non-credentialed" physician who maintains a written agreement with a credentialed physician who meets the medical director requirements.
