HISTORICAL NOTES

A rule is “every regulation, standard, or statement of policy or interpretation of general application and future effect...adopted by an agency.” (Laws of Missouri Vol. 1945 p. 1504) In other words, a rule is a method of administration used to carry out the laws passed by the General Assembly.

Between 1946 and 1975, rules were required to be filed with the Secretary of State, but were not published in any form statewide. Instead, each state agency was responsible for updating and furnishing printed copies of its own updates to the public. There was typically no review or feedback period for the public, although people could contest rules.

In July 1975, a new bill was passed that created the Committee on Administrative Rules operating within the General Assembly. The Committee would be responsible for reviewing proposed rules. Moreover, the Secretary of State's Office would now be responsible for publishing notices of proposed rulemaking (part of the Missouri Register) and the Code of State Regulations. These publications are intended for the public as well as the state agencies and contain the rules for each agency – not just one – so that there is a centralized source for such rules. The Commissioner of Administration (head of the Office of Administration or “OA”) was slated to handle contests about rules. Because of unclear language in the bill, two follow-up bills were passed in 1976 to help clarify the procedures for creating and proposing administrative rules.

In addition to publishing the rules from a central office, the Code of State Regulations would be uniform. The sections would have a standard numbering procedure to be followed by all state agencies. The Secretary of State's Office would create a manual explaining the new numbering system and keep it updated as needed.

Currently, the Secretary of State's Office maintains an Administrative Rules Division which is responsible for publishing the State Code of Regulations, the Missouri Register, and emergency rules. The Code is updated monthly and available online for free access by the public. The Register is published twice a month. Finally, the Missouri Constitution includes sections at the end of each agency's descriptions under Article IV governing the effective date(s) of new rules.

Scope and Content

The Missouri Register is published under the authority granted to the Secretary of State by RSMos 536.015 and 536.033. The publication began in 1976 following the approval of SB58 on July 15, 1975. The Missouri Register contains monthly updates to the Code of State Regulations (CSR). It includes emergency rules, notices of proposed rulemaking, orders of rulemaking, and bid openings. Beginning in May 1985 the Register was published twice monthly. Numerous August 1995 editions include fiscal notes.

All editions from October 1999 to the present are also available on Ad Rules' website:

MO SOS: ADMINISTRATIVE RULES DIVISION Code of State Regulations, 1977-present

Extent: Incomplete

Arrangement: Chronological

Scope and Content

The Code of State Regulations (CSR) is published under the authority granted to the Secretary of State by RSMo 536.031 and 536.023. The publication began in 1977 following the approval of SCSSB58 on July 15, 1975. The CSR is a uniform system of numbering, indexing, and publishing all rules of all state agencies. State statutes authorize state agencies to create rules for their departments; thus, at the end of every section of code in the CSR is a line citing the rulemaking authority from the Revised Statutes of the State of Missouri (RSMo).

Prior to the first Code in 1977, state agencies' rules were made according to the Administrative Procedures Act, which was approved on March 20, 1946 and created by SB196. The Archives maintains a separate finding aid for the “pre-code” rules from 1946-1975. The pre-code rules are organized by Department then by date.

The CSR has only been published in its entirety twice: once in 1977 and again in 1988. The 1977 original full version of the code is nicknamed the “Green Code” because it was printed in green binders, the favorite color of then-Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick. The 1988 version is called the “Red Code” because it was printed in binders with red spines. All other publications are what are called “supplements” or “update services” and are printed periodically throughout the year. Additional twice-monthly updates and proposed rules are printed in the Missouri Register. See the previous section of this finding aid.

The Archives maintains three incomplete copies of the Green Code. All three sets are missing some original pages, but are missing different ones. Two of the sets also include updated replacement pages dating from November 1977 through about 1983. The replacement pages are identifiable by small print at the bottom of the page listing the month and year of publication, such as “(11/79).” If there is no date at the bottom of the page, the page is original to the Green Code. The first set is the most complete and should be used for researching Green Code requests.

Most supplements will include an index at the end of the updates to the final volume. The index often also includes a list of RSMo references and CSR references.

All supplements from June 30, 1999 to the present are also available on Ad Rules' website: <http://sl.sos.mo.gov/adrules/csr/csr.asp>.

Container List

Green Code Copy 1: This is the most complete set of the Green Code the Archives has. All pages in this set are original to the Green Code. In other words, it contains no replacement pages. Researchers should use this set.

The Archives is missing the Supplements/Updates from January 1985 to October 1988. We have an unprocessed stash of so-called “take-out pages” on 6B/5/6-7 & -9. These cover 01/27/1995 to 10/31/2002. Take-out pages are those pages that were supposed to be removed from a given set of the CSR when new ones were ready to go in. The Annotated Supplements (above and below) contain the new replacement pages. The take-out pages are the “old” ones that are replaced with every supplement. The Archives’ set of take-out pages is incomplete, but it’s still possible that a particular CSR update from 1985 to 1988 will be among these pages, provided it hasn’t been updated again before 1995.
