Historical and Biographical Notes

The Missouri Lewis and Clark Bicentennial Commission was formed to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the 1804-1806 expedition headed by Meriwether Lewis and William Clark. The Commission was appointed by Governor Mel Carnahan in March 1998 to “rekindle the spirit of discovery, achievement and wonder fostered by the original exploration.” Planning for the event became a multi-agency and multi-organizational effort including the Departments of Conservation, Natural Resources, and Transportation, Division of Tourism, Missouri State Archives, State Historical Society of Missouri, and Missouri Historical Society. The commission included two co-chairs, an executive director, agency representatives, and governor-appointed members-at-large. The executive director would serve as the primary liaison at the national level between the 15 participating states and the National Parks Service. Members served until the commission concluded in 2006.

The Commission’s efforts included roles in planning National Signature Events, including four that occurred in Missouri. Aiding in this goal was the fact both the National Lewis and Clark Council and its subgroups were headquartered in St. Louis from mid-2002 until 2006 (previously Portland, Oregon) and because all members of the Missouri Commission were also active members of the national group. The events for the Bicentennial began in 2003, first representing Lewis leaving Virginia (Monticello event) and his joining Clark along the Ohio River (Falls of the Ohio event). Local events in 2003 included Lewis and Clark’s trip up the Mississippi River from the mouth of the Ohio River to St. Louis. The state’s National Signature Events followed the explorers’ path along the Missouri River. At the Three Flags Festival in 2004 a reenactment of the land transfer occurred featuring the French and American presidents and the king of Spain. Just a few weeks later the Preparations Complete, Expedition Faces West Signature Event took place in St. Charles. In July, the Heart of America: A Journey Fourth in Kansas City celebrated both the Expedition and Independence Day. In 2006, The Currents of Change Signature Event in St. Louis celebrated the end of the Lewis and Clark expedition’s anniversary. Interspersed during this three-year period were numerous state and local events, including a statewide K-12 curriculum, special Girl Scout and Boy Scout programs, the adoption of signage on roads and rivers along the routes Lewis and Clark traveled, and the Lewis and Clark: The National Bicentennial Exhibition created by the Missouri Historical Society that debuted in St. Louis before traveling nationwide.

The Missouri Lewis and Clark Bicentennial Commission was subdivided into six task forces. The Events Task Force focused on planning state and national events and assisting with local events. The Promotions Task Force created all print and web publications, published a newsletter, and led the highway signs program. The Exhibits and Interpretations Task Force focused on the related exhibits and conferences and led the interpretive signs program (river signage). The Education Task Force focused on creating classroom resources, reviewing school grants, coordinating with the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, and liaised with the Lewis and Clark Mapping Project. The Budget and Development Task Force focused on donations, merchandising, and administering the Corps of Discovery Grant Program which funded many local events. The Agencies Task Force coordinated with other state agencies on events and event planning, predominantly the Department of Natural Resources and the Department of Conservation.
