SERIES

Written Volumes, 1861-1865

Scope and Content

These three books belong to Wilson's Creek National Battlefield site. They were loaned to the Archives for digitizing. Two of them are available online on Missouri Digital Heritage. The books concern the Civil War in Missouri.

Container List

Battle of Locust Grove journal: <http://cdm.sos.mo.gov/cdm/ref/collection/mack/id/2834>

This diary belonged to George Falconer of Col. J.J. Clarkson's Confederate Cavalry, and Albert Ellithorpe of the Indian Home Guards, 1st Kansas Infantry. Ellithorpe captured the diary from Falconer during the Battle of Locust Grove on July 3, 1862. The majority of the diary is written by Ellithorpe and provides his accounts of engagements with Confederate soldiers, Kansas politics, and bushwhackers.

Journal of the Senate, Extra Session of the Rebel Legislature:

<http://cdm.sos.mo.gov/cdm/compoundobject/collection/mack/id/3666/rec/1>

Handwritten copy of the Rebel Senate Journal. Includes the proceedings of the extra session of the breakaway Missouri General Assembly called by Governor Claiborne Fox Jackson and held on October 21, 1861 in Neosho, Newton County, Missouri. On October 28, the Rebel Legislature formally voted to secede from the United States. The Rebel Legislature adjourned on November 7, 1861.

Record Sheet of Disinterments and Reinterments:

Not available online. Archival copy only (no access copy currently).

This record book records (if known), the name, rank, company, regiment, date of death, inscription or remarks, and location in Springfield National Cemetery of soldiers who died in Southwest Missouri during the Civil War and were reinterred in Springfield. Soldiers came from Wilson's Creek, West Plains, Dallas County, Polk County, McDonald County, and several other locations. The last two pages of the volume include a copy of the deed of purchase for the Cemetery land.
