ADMINISTRATIVE INFORMATION

Access Restrictions: No special restrictions. However, as some of the records are fragile, alternate access formats should be used when available.

Publication Restrictions: Copyright is in the public domain. Items reproduced for publication should carry the credit line: Courtesy of the Missouri State Archives.

Preferred Citation: [Name], [Certificate #]; New Madrid Claims, 1815-1855; U.S. Recorder of Land Titles, Record Group 951; Missouri State Archives, Jefferson City.

Acquisition Information: Agency transfer. At some point, likely in the 1970s or 1980s, MSA sent the bound certificates and associated volumes to Walz-Cremer bindery in Jefferson City to be rebound. For whatever reason, these records were forgotten by both parties until the bindery closed in 2013. At that time, the bindery signed a deed of gift to MSA. However, at no point did the State of Missouri actually relinquish ownership of these records.

Processing Information: Processing completed by Mary Kay Coker on July 29, 2019.

HISTORICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES

At about two in the morning of December 16, 1811, a devastating earthquake hit southeastern Missouri and neighboring Arkansas. Estimated at about 7.5 Richter scale (USGS), the quake damaged about two hundred thousand square miles of land and rang church bells as far away as Philadelphia and Boston. Subsequent quakes and aftershocks lasted into April 1812, displacing settlers and destroying the town of New Madrid.

The scale of the earthquakes spurred the country's first Congressional disaster relief legislation: "An act for the relief of the inhabitants of the late county of New Madrid, in Missouri Territory, who suffered by earthquakes." (17 Feb 1815) The act allowed displaced settlers to relocate their lands elsewhere in the territory.

Depending on the size of their original grants, landowners were eligible for between 160 and 640 acres. Unfortunately, speculators in St. Louis took advantage of the situation, buying up damaged land for a pittance from owners who had yet to hear of the act's passage. Only a small fraction of original landowners retained their certificates. In addition, many land entries made in new locations were found to interfere with prior preemption rights and had to be amended. Litigation and legislation over the New Madrid claims continued until the last case was settled in 1862.

Per Missouri statutes (Section 446.270): "Copies of certificates granted by the recorder of land titles, under the act of Congress for the relief of the sufferers by earthquakes in the county of New Madrid, and all other books and papers, which by law are required to be deposited or kept at his office, duly certified by him, shall be received as evidence."

For entries (description only) of relocated lands based on New Madrid certificates, see New Madrid Locations, 1816-1842. For actual plats of survey for relocations, see Record (Survey) Book A: New Madrid Locations. All but the last volume are further detailed in the RG 952 finding aid New Madrid Claims, 1816-1856.

Scope and Content

This series comprises original certificates and associated records, which may include entries, amended entries, certifications of interference with prior claims, correspondence and, rarely, a plat of survey. The majority of initial land entries were withdrawn due to interferences with prior claims so many have amended entries.

At some point in their history, the certificates were bound into two separate volumes, one with #1-250 and the other #251-516. Both were in very poor condition when returned to state custody. The first volume had brittle paper broken at the edges and old tape that stained the paper. The second volume had old mold and water damage. Both were unbound and underwent conservation treatment. A large number of the records, however, have lost at least some content (listed as damaged in the container list below).

The handwriting of the recorder, Frederick Bates, is very difficult to decipher and is made even more difficult by later damage to the records. Fortunately, a much more legible (and complete) office copy made in 1856 can be found in Record Group 952 (U.S. Surveyor General).

Some of the missing certificates in this collection have notations that the land was located in Arkansas and the original certificates were sent to the land office in Little Rock. A few original certificates that may have once been at the beginning/end of the volumes may no longer be extant, such as Certificates 249 and 250 at the end of the first volume.

NEW MADRID CLAIMS CERTIFICATES ISSUED INDEX, n.d.

Arrangement: By certificate number

Extent: 0.133 cubic feet (1 partial Hollinger box)

Scope and Content

This series comprises one volume of thirty-six pages. The lower part of pages 1-3 are missing, affecting a number of early certificates. Columns are for certificate number, survey number, name of claimant, page-township-range (4 times), blank heading, arpents and acres.

The volume gives no indication as to when it was created but is not in Recorder Frederick Bates' handwriting. As the volume includes rectangular survey system numbers (section, township, and range), this volume may actually belong in RG 952 (U.S. Surveyor General). As it was found with RG 951, however, that classification has remained.

Includes WPA index.

NOTE: This volume needs conservation work (tape).

NEW MADRID LOCATION CERTIFICATES ISSUED, n.d.

Arrangement: By certificate number

Extent: 0.133 cubic feet (1 partial Hollinger box)

Scope and Content

This series comprises one volume created by Recorder Frederick Bates, whose handwriting is difficult to decipher.

The first part of this volume (pp. 1-15) relates not to New Madrid claims but to grants in various locations (including New Madrid) under “An act making further provision for settling the claims to land in the territory of Missouri.” Columns are for minutes (book and page), grantees, situation (river), and arpents.

The remainder of the volume presents a list (pp. 17-41) by certificate number of the New Madrid claims, giving names of claimants, quantity of land, situation (location) and remarks.

A piece of heavier paper (perhaps from the missing flyleaf) pasted with notations on scraps of paper was tipped in to this volume. It was removed to the folder for Certificate 426 (Jean Montmenie) as it had a draft certificate for that entry.

Includes original and WPA indexes.

NOTE: This volume needs conservation work (tape).

TESTIMONY OF LANDS INJURED BY EARTHQUAKES IN NEW MADRID, 1815-1818

Arrangement: Chronological

Extent: 0.133 cubic feet (1 partial Hollinger box)

Scope and Content

This series comprises a single volume of brief testimony from landowners or their agents stating that their lands were damaged in the New Madrid earthquakes.

The testimony began in St Louis on May 18, 1815, and ended there on December 31, 1818. Unfortunately, the handwriting of the recorder, Frederick Bates, is very difficult to decipher. For the most part, however, the entries follow a predictable pattern: reference to source of original claim, name of claimant, amount and location of land, witness name, and damage to land (in very general terms).

Most entries are only a few lines long, with the following typical: “Alexis Peter alias Picard Cl[aimant]t 640 acres St Francis N Madrid[.] Raphael Lesseur duly sworn says that this tract was much broken by the Earthquakes, covered with sand & materially injured[.]” (p 11) A few entries give slightly more details but many give less, the testimony given simply as “materially injured.”

NOTE: This volume needs conservation work (tape).
