Be it resolved by the people of the state of Missouri that the Constitution be amended:

Article I of the Constitution is revised by amending Section 33 to read as follows:

Section 33. That [to be valid and recognized in this state, a marriage shall exist only between a man and a woman.] all people have a natural and infeasible right to determine their gender identity for themselves and the right to free exercise of expression with regard to their sexual orientation, so long as their free exercise of these rights does not infringe upon the rights of others to do the same; that consenting adults have the right to form civil unions and/or join together in the sacred bonds of matrimony; that with the consent of a biological parent or legal guardian, persons not yet of the age of consent have the right to seek gender-affirming care or counselling with regard to gender identification and/or sexual orientation; and that health care providers, ministers and clergy, and educators may, at their own discretion, exercise their right to provide counsel to persons, including those not yet of the age of consent, seeking guidance and/or comfort with regard to matters relating to gender identification and sexual orientation.
