SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: The Missouri Commission for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing received ten comments regarding this rule. Nine (9) comments basically indicated support for all of the MCDHH proposed amendments.

RESPONSE: MCDHH thanks these commenters for their unqualified support.

COMMENT: “One of the requirements for licensure is for an interpreter to hold a current certification. An interpreter needs to complete the requirement for CEU’s to ensure their certificate is current. If an interpreter does not have all of their CEU’s, the certification is not current and that interpreter will not be in compliance with 4 CSR 232-3.010(2) in the State Committee of Interpreters’ Ethical Rules of Conduct. The SCI needs to know those interpreters who are not compliant to make sure they do not engage in interpreting until their certification is current. The removal of this required ‘communication’ will allow for the unethical and illegal practice of interpreting, which the SCI is supposed to prevent. Please consider revising this proposed amendment to require the BCI to notify the SCI of the number of CEU’s interpreters have earned.”

RESPONSE AND EXPLANATION OF CHANGE: The language deleting the requirement for the BCI to notify the SCI of the number of CEUs that interpreters have earned for the year was inadvertently and erroneously deleted in the proposed amendment. That language has been restored in section (6) of the revised amendment.

5 CSR 100-200.130 Certification Maintenance

(6) The BCI will review and verify all MICS CEUs claimed in the CEU forms submitted. After verification, the BCI will notify the State Committee of Interpreters of the number of CEUs interpreters have earned for the year.

5 CSR 100-200.170 Skill Level Standards is amended.

A notice of proposed rulemaking containing the text of the proposed amendment was published in the Missouri Register on December 15, 2003 (28 MoReg 2227-2230). No changes have been made in the text of the proposed amendment, so it is not reprinted here. This proposed amendment becomes effective thirty (30) days after publication in the Code of State Regulations.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: The Missouri Commission for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing received comments regarding this rule from a total of forty-four (44) different commenters during the period for public comment. Basically, thirty-seven (37) of the commenters (86%) supported the RID placement of the proposed rule while six (6) commenters (14%) opposed the RID placement in the proposed rule preferring that RID CI/CT and CSC holders be treated as equivalent to MICS comprehensive certification holders.

COMMENTS: Nine (9) commenters basically indicated support for all of the MCDHH proposed amendments, and indicated that in particular they wanted to voice their support for the proposed amendment to 5 CSR 100-200.170 Skill Level Standards.

RESPONSE: MCDHH thanks these commenters for their unqualified general support, and their specific support of the proposed amendment to 5 CSR 100-200.170.

COMMENT: Twenty (20) additional commenters basically indicated that they supported the proposed amendment to 5 CSR 100-200.170, and that they did not want the proposed language changed in any way.
RESPONSE: MCDHH thanks these commenters for their specific support of the proposed amendment to 5 CSR 100-200.170.

COMMENT: Eight (8) additional commenters basically provided comments that implied support for the proposed amendment to 5

CSR 100-200.170. They urged that RID certification holders be required to follow the same certification laws as interpreters living in Missouri, and that we should keep the proposed rules and not make exceptions for members of a special interest group like RID. Excerpts from these comments include:

“Please ask the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules to stand firm with the already established guidelines and not allow Missouri to be strong-armed by a group of people who refuse to stand up and be counted by showing their skills through testing.”

“For a national organization or club to come in and supercede the current standards is deplorable.”

“I respect the certification standards of RID, but to allow their certification to supercede that of MO is not acceptable.”

“I implore you and the Commission to keep the laws that are currently in place regarding the changes requested by the RID. Special Interests should not supercede the laws that are in place here in Missouri.”

“For ten years, professionals have worked on getting laws and standards for testing in the state of Missouri. For an organization to come in and try to supercede this is absurd . . . if they are better than all of us, they should have no problem getting state certified!”

“I think that it is ridiculous that R.I.D. interpreters want a different set of standards than the rest of the Missouri interpreters.”

“I think it is a shame that a national organization feels no need to abide by the same rules that the rest of us must abide by. If members of RID have such confidence in their skills then what is the problem with following the law like the rest of us must do. It seems to me those individuals have become frightened at what their skill levels could prove to be. Please don’t allow RID to get away with this.”

RESPONSE: We are well aware of the fact that many people disagree with the idea of allowing RID certificate holders to go directly to the State Committee of Interpreters and get a license to interpret in Missouri, and look upon that as the members of a special interest group circumventing state law. However, the relevant law (209.322, RSMo) was changed in 2002, and mandated the recognition of certain RID certifications. The proposed amendment to 5 CSR 100-200.170 basically completes the implementation of the 2002 statutory change.

COMMENT: “The RID national certification is specifically termed an ‘entry level’ certification and should not be converted at the highest level of certification in Missouri (level 5). Our entry level equivalent could be interpreted as a level 3 (Intermediate), and I believe that the legislation is generous in converting nationally certified interpreters at a level 4 (Advanced).”

RESPONSE: There is much disagreement regarding whether the RID generalist certifications CI, CT and CSC should be considered equivalent to an MICS Comprehensive, Advanced, or Intermediate certification. MCDHH attempted to resolve that issue several years ago when it requested cutting point information from the Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf for each of their tests. Unfortunately, in a letter dated March 1, 2000, Jake Thomas, the RID National Testing System Coordinator, indicated that the information was “proprietary” and could not be shared. Failing to obtain the requested information, MCDHH has had to rely on other reasoning in developing the RID placements in the proposed amendment to 5 CSR 100-200.170—reasoning that seems compelling and makes sense. That reasoning can be found in the following comment.

COMMENT: “In the past, the RID, the Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf, a professional organization of interpreters established a pass/fail certification process which was recognized as a minimal standard for interpreters. Later, those certified interpreters recognized that interpreters working in courtrooms and other legal settings needed more knowledge. Consequently the organization set up a legal skills certification process for those certified interpreters who wish to study and then sit for a test that demonstrated legal skills knowledge and knowledge of interpreting in legal settings. Those who currently hold the SC:L, (Skills Certificate: Legal), must attend workshops and training specific to the legal field in order to maintain that certification with the RID.

Under the established Missouri system, the level of certification which interpreters wishing to work in legal situations such as courtroom must pass is the Comprehensive level. (See the Skill Level Standards)

It makes sense that holders of the RID legal certification be able to work in the courtroom such as set out in the Skill Level Standards. Why should those who have not earned the legal certification in the organization be able to work in the courtrooms of Missouri? Is the RID legal certification worthless? Is it fair to the consumers in Missouri?

The proposed amendment to the Skill Level Standards Rule should stand.”

RESPONSE: MCDHH thoroughly agrees with the logic of this commenter. It would not make any sense for Missouri to allow holders of RID generalist certifications (CI/CT or CSC) to interpret in our courtrooms when their own professional organization has said that their generalist certification was not sufficient for interpreting in courts.

COMMENT: One (1) commenter opposed the proposed rule because she wanted all interpreters to have to take the MICS certification test—no exceptions. She stated “I strongly feel that all interpreters who move into Missouri should test for state certification, as did all of the interpreters who live here . . . I don’t feel that anyone holding any other certification should be automatically allowed to interpret in Missouri. We have no way to measure their level of expertise, and national organizations have chosen not to provide us with that information.”

RESPONSE: MCDHH appreciates the faith and approval of the MICS that this commenter expresses. However, in 2002 section 209.323, RSMo was amended by the Missouri legislature, thereby allowing certain RID and NAD certificate holders to obtain licenses to interpret in Missouri without having to take the MICS performance test. No changes have been made to the proposed amendment as a result of this comment.

COMMENT: Six (6) commenters basically opposed the proposed amendment because they felt that persons who hold a RID CI/CT or CSC should be allowed to work in all settings where an MICS Comprehensive interpreter could work.

COMMENT: “We need more RID certified interpreters in Missouri. We need them to interpret in serious situations (MICS-5, NOT level 4).

RESPONSE: MCDHH certainly agrees that we need more interpreters in the state of Missouri. In the past, the RID established a pass/fail certification process that was recognized as a minimal standard for interpreters. Later, that organization recognized that interpreters working in courtrooms and other legal settings needed more knowledge. Consequently the organization set up a legal skills certification process for those certified interpreters who wish to study and then take a test that demonstrates both superior interpreting skills and knowledge of interpreting in legal settings. Those who currently hold the SC:L (Skills Certificate: Legal) must attend workshops and training specific to the legal field in order to maintain that certification with the RID.

Under the established Missouri system, the level of certification that interpreters wanting to work in legal situations, such as courtroom, must pass, is the Comprehensive level. It makes sense that holders of the RID legal certification should be able to work in the courtroom, as is provided for in the proposed amendment to 5 CSR 100-200.170. However, it does not make sense to allow RID interpreters who have not earned the legal certification in their organization to work in the courtrooms of Missouri. To do so would in effect be saying that the RID legal certification is of no value, and it would not be fair to consumers in Missouri. No changes have been made to the proposed amendment as a result of this comment.

COMMENT: “I just heard that RID CI/CT will be limited to Level 4 work in MO. I believe that this is a failure to recognize the skills of RID CI/CT interpreters, who are regarded as the most qualified in all other states, regardless of state levels.”

RESPONSE: It is not the intent of the proposed amendment to demean the skills of RID certified interpreters. Many of them are outstanding interpreters. Rather, the proposed amendment is an effort to protect the interests of consumers of interpreting services in Missouri, when we have neither MICS test results nor RID cutting point information with which to confirm the skill level of a particular interpreter. No changes have been made to the proposed amendment as a result of this comment.

COMMENT: Three (3) commenters basically asserted that the proposed rule would negatively affect the ability of Missouri to recruit out-of-state interpreters. Those comments were as follows:

“We currently do not have enough qualified interpreters within the State of Missouri. It would discourage out of state interpreters from even thinking about moving to the State of Missouri because this change would downgrade their pay scale.”

“By allowing an RID CI/CT or CSC holder access to settings requiring Comprehensive certification, Missouri will be able to recruit more interpreters and provide more services to residents who are deaf or hard of hearing.”

“I am deeply concerned that MCDHH plans to present a bill that will cripple Missouri in the highly competitive acquisition of vital human resources . . . MCDHH’s decision to downgrade the level of National RID Certification will seriously impact our ability to recruit interpreters to work in Missouri . . . No self-respecting interpreter would willingly move to a state to work that has so little respect for the highest certification available to us in this profession.”

RESPONSE: The ability of Missouri to recruit more out-of-state interpreters is a function of many factors, such as the availability of positions, proximity to family, environmental aesthetics, availability of recreation and entertainment of one’s choice, availability and cost of housing, quality of public schools, availability and quality of health care, crime rates, cost of living, typical weather conditions, salary levels, and so forth. And is difficult to believe that the small difference in pay that might result from providing services in settings that require only an Advanced interpreter versus settings that require a Comprehensive interpreter could possibly be so important as to offset the many other factors that affect a major decision like moving to another state to look for or accept work. Besides, if the difference in pay scale is vitally important to a particular interpreter, and if that RID CI/CT or CSC holder is truly a skilled interpreter, that interpreter can always take the MICS test and easily become certified at the Comprehensive level in Missouri thus eliminating any pay scale difference.

In addition, it is important to note here that MCDHH has absolutely nothing to do with setting salary rates for interpreters in Missouri. Those rates are set by either the interpreters themselves or the interpreter referral agencies with which the interpreters contract their services. In such a free market there is nothing to prevent interpreter referral agencies from offering higher pay rates to holders of RID CI/CT or CSC certificates if they truly felt that this would aid their recruiting efforts. No changes have been made to the proposed amendment as a result of this comment.

COMMENT: “With about 96 interpreters certified at the Comprehensive level (35 in the St. Louis metropolitan area, 22 in the Kansas City metropolitan area, and 39 for the rest of the state) out of a total of 507 interpreters in the state, there is a definite need for interpreters working in settings requiring Comprehensive certification.”

RESPONSE: MCDHH certainly agrees that there is a need for interpreters working in settings requiring Comprehensive certification. Those settings include ones that provide the greatest threat to the life, freedom and health (both mental and physical) of consumers of interpreting services. It is precisely those settings where MCDHH must have the greatest confidence in the superior performance skills of interpreters. But unless either an interpreter has demonstrated those skills by taking the MICS performance test or necessary cutting point information is shared by the national RID office, MCDHH has no way of knowing the skill level of a particular interpreter. Therefore, it is better for MCDHH to possibly err on the conservative side of this issue in order to ensure the safety and welfare of deaf and hard of hearing consumers of interpreting services. No changes have been made to the proposed amendment as a result of this comment.

COMMENT: "A change to this proposal is needed to give RID certification its correct level of recognition, that of Comprehensive skills. These two national certifications, RID and NAD, have long been recognized as equivalent, and soon will be, in fact. These two organizations have collaborated to make one testing system instead of two. As in the past, both RID CSC and CI/CT will be recognized as equivalent to NAD level 5, and therefore need to be given Comprehensive level by the State of Missouri (NOT Advanced, level 4)."

RESPONSE: RID and NAD have been slowly moving towards a combined testing system for over ten (10) years, and it is not a reality yet. If and when it becomes a reality, then rule 5 CSR 100-200.170 will obviously be revisited and possibly revised. No changes have been made to the proposed amendment as a result of this comment.

ORDER OF RULEMAKING

By the authority vested in the director of the Division of Medical Services under sections 208.152, 208.153, and 208.201, RSMo 2000, the director adopts a rule as follows:

13 CSR 70-98.015 Psychiatric/Psychology/Counseling/
Clinical Social Work Program Documentation is adopted.

A notice of proposed rulemaking containing the text of the proposed rule was published in the Missouri Register on December 15, 2003 (28 MoReg 2253-2254). No changes have been made in the text of the proposed rule, so it is not reprinted here. This proposed rule becomes effective thirty (30) days after publication in the Code of State Regulations.

SUMMARY OF COMMENTS: The Division of Medical Services (DMS) received eight (8) written comments on the proposed rule during the thirty (30)-day comment period. The director also received written comments from the Medical Advisory Committee while the amendment was under development prior to filing. The comments regarding wording changes were taken into consideration when drafting the proposed rule. A suggestion that licensed baccalaureate social workers be enrolled as Medicaid providers was not made part of the proposed rule.

COMMENT: Eight (8) comments were received expressing concern that this rule was intended to limit the scope of practice of licensed professional counselors (LPCs) and that nothing in Missouri law suggests that the DMS has the authority to delineate what services LPCs can or cannot render to help Missouri's citizens. In the opinion of those commenting LPCs frequently had formal training in diagnosis and spent hundreds of hours honing their skills every year. If LPCs don't diagnosis it will limit the ability of most of the people of Missouri to receive services on a timely basis and will cost the state significantly more money while not improving the quality of care already being provided.

RESPONSE: This rule requires the documentation necessary for DMS to determine if it is making payments for medically necessary services as allowed by federal regulation. No changes have been made to the rule as a result of this comment.

COMMENT: One commenter expressed concern that the past nine (9) years DMS has failed to recognize the need to include practicing providers in policy development. The commenter went on that DMS efforts made them appear unfriendly and a deterrent for potential providers and ultimately the people of Missouri suffer.

RESPONSE: Practicing providers are included in policy development through meetings with DMS staff, corresponding with DMS about concerns, through review of rules by the Medical Advisory Committee, and through the public comment period required by Missouri's rulemaking procedures at section 536.021, RSMo 2000. As of March 1, 2004 there were more than 3,400 psychologists, professional counselors, and social workers enrolled as active providers in Missouri Medicaid. No changes have been made to the rule as a result of this comment.
