Chapter 110—Sales/Use Tax—Exemptions

12 CSR 10-110.013 Drugs and Medical Equipment

PURPOSE: Section 144.030.2(18), RSMo, provides an exemption for prescription drugs, orthopedic and prosthetic devices, numerous dental items, hearing aids, hearing aid supplies and certain sales of over-the-counter drugs. This rule explains the sales tax law as it applies to these exemptions.

(1) In general, sales of prescription drugs, orthopedic and prosthetic devices and certain qualifying health-related equipment, and certain sales of over-the-counter drugs, are exempt from Missouri sales tax.

(2) Definition of Terms.
(A) Orthopedic device—a rigid or semirigid leg, arm, back or neck brace and casting materials which are directly used for the purpose of supporting a weak or deformed body member or restricting or eliminating motion in a diseased or injured part of the body.
(B) Over-the-counter drug—a drug product which may be purchased without a physician’s prescription.
(C) Prescription drug—a drug dispensed by a licensed pharmacist only upon a lawful prescription from a licensed practitioner.
(D) Prosthetic device—a device that replaces all or part of the function of a permanently inoperative or malfunctioning internal body organ and is medically required.

(3) Basic Application of Tax.
(A) Sales of prescription drugs, insulin, medical grade oxygen, drug samples and materials used to manufacture samples, which may be dispensed by a licensed practitioner are exempt from tax. Sales of over-the-counter drugs when sold to an individual with a disability or to the individual’s agent are exempt from tax.
(B) Sales of orthopedic devices as defined by the Federal Medicare Program under Title XVIII of the Social Security Act of 1965 are exempt from tax.

(C) Also exempt from sales tax are items specified in section 1862(A)(12) of the Social Security Act of 1965. (D) Sales of other specific health-related equipment and accessories are exempt from sales tax.

1. These specific items are—
   A. Ambulatory aides

EBI Medical Systems, Inc. v. Director of Revenue (AHC 1997). The taxpayer manufactured and sold orthostatic (bone) stimulators. The devices provided small amounts of electrical current that stimulate the bone to promote growth and healing, and were available by prescription only. The taxpayer argued the stimulators were exempt from taxation under section 144.030.2(18), RSMo, using three alternative theories: (1) as a prosthetic device, (2) as an orthopedic device, and (3) as a prescription drug. The Commission found the stimulator was an orthopedic device, not a prosthetic device or a prescription drug. The stimulators qualified as orthopedic devices under Regulation 12 CSR 10-3.852(3) that defines orthopedic devices to include orthotics. The Commission defined orthotics as an orthotic appliance or apparatus used to support, align, prevent, or correct deformities or to improve the function of movable parts of the body. The Commission concluded the stimulator promotes bone growth to correct deformities, and therefore, was an orthotic and an orthopedic device. The Social Security Act of 1965, 42 U.S.C. Section 1395x(s)(8), defines prosthetic devices as devices “which replace all or part of an internal body organ.” Since the stimulators do not “replace all or part of the function of a permanently inoperative or malfunctioning internal body organ,” the stimulators were not prosthetic devices. The federal definition of “Prescription drug,” set forth in 21 U.S.C.A. Section 321(g)(1), specifically excludes devices or their component parts or accessories. The Commission found the stimulator was a device, and therefore, by definition, was not a prescription drug.

Four Rivers Home Health Care, Inc. v. Director of Revenue (AHC 1992). Taxpayer sold oxygen for medicinal use and also sold durable medical equipment. Taxpayer did not collect or remit sales tax on either oxygen or durable medical equipment because it considered both to be exempt pursuant to 144.030.2(18), RSMo. Taxpayer sold oxygen only upon a physician’s prescription; but taxpayer did not have a licensed pharmacist on the premises. Taxpayer also sold wheelchairs, motorized three-wheel vehicles, crutches, walkers, canes, commode chairs, pressure pads and cushions, seat lift chairs and patient lifts, arm slings, flow meters, oxygen regulators and intermittent partial pressure breathing apparatus. The Commission found that oxygen was a drug. However, it is not designated as a prescription drug. The Missouri Supreme Court has ruled that the sales tax exemption does not apply to this oxygen since persons other than a licensed pharmacist dispense it.

Red Line Medical Supply, Inc. v. Director of Revenue (AHC 1995). This case involved a taxpayer engaged in the business of selling medical supplies at retail. The taxpayer stated its belief that enteral nutrients were “prosthetic devices” under Title XVIII of the Social Security Act of 1965, and, therefore, its sales of the nutrients were exempt from Missouri sales/use tax. The Commission found that the federal statutes were interpreted in part by the Carriers Manual and, therefore, could be utilized in determining whether enteral nutrients were prosthetic devices. It further found, however, that the manual did not define enteral nutrients as prosthetic devices. The Commission also found that under Missouri law, Medic House, Inc. v. Director of Revenue, 799 S.W.2d 81 (Mo. banc 1990), in order for enteral nutrients to qualify as “prosthetic devices,” they must “(1) ‘replace all or part of an internal body organ’ and (2) be ‘medically required.’” Applying the facts to the case, the Commission found that enteral nutrients were not prosthetic devices and, therefore, taxpayer should have collected and remitted Missouri sales taxes on its sales of enteral nutrients.
Leg, arm, back, and neck braces, and artificial legs, arms, and eyes, including replacement parts, are exempt if required by a change in the patient’s physical condition. The durable medical equipment items sold by taxpayer were not artificial limbs or braces. These items are not exempt under section 144.030.2(18), RSMo.

12 CSR 10-110.016 Refunds and Credits

PURPOSE: Section 144.190, RSMo permits a taxpayer to file a claim for refund of an overpayment of sales or use taxes resulting from a mistake of fact or law. Section 144.100, RSMo requires a taxpayer to file an amended return to correct an error or omission on a return. Section 144.746, RSMo allows the taxpayer and the department to extend by agreement the time to file a claim for refund. Section 144.030.2(23), RSMo establishes special refund procedures for purchasers of domestic utilities under a non-domestic utility rate classification. This rule explains requirements for obtaining a refund or credit on overpayment of sales and use taxes.

(1) In general, if a taxpayer has overpaid tax, the taxpayer may file a claim for a refund with the department.

(2) Basic Application of Tax

(A) A taxpayer may file a claim for a refund within three (3) years after the date of an overpayment. The date of the overpayment is the due date of the original return or the date paid whichever is later. The department will not consider a claim if it is filed within the three (3)-year period. Every claim must be in writing under oath, and must state the specific grounds upon which the claim is founded. If the overpayment is due to an error or omission in a previously filed return, the claim must be accompanied by an amended return for each period in which the tax was originally reported. If the error or omission is corrected in the return immediately following the filing period in which the error or omission occurred, no amended return or claim for refund is required.

(B) The person requesting the refund or credit must be the person who is legally obligated to remit the tax to the Department of Revenue. If a taxpayer erroneously pays sales tax to a vendor, the taxpayer should seek a refund from that vendor. Vendors may file a claim on behalf of the purchaser by submitting a claim for refund and amended returns for the period(s) in which the tax was erroneously remitted.

(C) The department will issue a statement approving the credit in the amount of the overpayment instead of a refund if the taxpayer requests a credit on the claim. The credit may be applied to any subsequent tax liability by attaching the approved credit authorization form to the return to which the credit is being applied. In no case, however, should a person take a credit for any overpayment of tax unless prior approval has been obtained from the department. If it is determined later that the person will incur no future liability, for example the business is closed, the credit may be returned to the department for a refund.

(D) If a sale is rescinded, no amended return or claim for refund is required. The seller may adjust its gross receipts on its next filed return. However, the adjustment may not exceed the gross receipts for the filing period.

(E) Interest is paid on all refunds at a rate established pursuant to section 32.057, RSMo. Interest does not apply to a credit.

(F) No refunds will be granted for illegally or erroneously overcharged or overcollected sales tax incident to credit card discounts, imposition of sales tax by the retailer upon amounts representing cigarette tax imposed under Chapter 149, RSMo, or imposition of sales tax by the retailer upon amounts representing tax on sales of beer, liquor or wine under Chapter 311, RSMo.

(G) The department may recover any overpayment instead of a refund if the taxpayer requests a credit on the claim. The credit may be applied to any subsequent tax liability by attaching the approved credit authorization form to the return to which the credit is being applied. In no case, however, should a person take a credit for any overpayment of tax unless prior approval has been obtained from the department. If it is determined later that the person will incur no future liability, for example the business is closed, the credit may be returned to the department for a refund.

(H) A person making taxable, non-domestic purchases of utility services and using any portion of the services for nontaxable domestic purposes for the benefit of a business may apply for a credit or refund on the domestic use portion of the purchase. In addition, a person making domestic purchases of utility services on behalf of occupants of residential apartments, condominiums and nursing homes through a single or master meter, may also apply for a credit or refund on the domestic use portion of the purchase. Domestic use includes common areas and facilities as well as vacant units. The claim for refund must be filed between the first day of the fiscal year and the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the year of purchase.

(I) Alternatively, the purchaser of nontaxable, domestic use utility services may request the utility company to apply for a refund on the domestic portion of its utility purchases. The utility company, as the seller of utilities, has three (3) years from the due date of its return for the period in which the domestic utilities were sold to file a claim for refund on behalf of the purchaser.

(J) The taxpayer and the department may extend by agreement the period allowed for filing a claim for refund. However, such an agreement is allowed only if the time for filing a claim for refund has not yet expired.

(3) Examples.

(A) A vendor collects tax on a sale to a customer that takes place in August and reports it on its August sales tax return. In October, that customer presents a valid exemption certificate for the August sale. To claim a refund, the vendor must complete a notarized claim for refund and submit it with a copy of the invoice, the customer’s exemption certificate and an amended August return.

(B) A carpet vendor determines that in the past three (3) years it has been collecting and remitting sales tax on carpet sales in which it is also installing the carpet in homes and businesses. The vendor purchases its carpet from a wholesaler located outside of the state. Therefore, the carpet vendor should have been paying use tax on its purchases of the carpet from its wholesaler and selling its carpet without charging sales tax on its installation sales. The vendor should complete amended sales tax returns for each period during the three (3) years and amended use tax returns for each period during the three (3) years. If the amended returns result in an overpayment, the carpet vendor may claim a refund by completing a refund application.

(C) A computer store sells a computer to a customer and reports the tax on its May sales tax return. In July the customer returns the computer for a full refund. Because the May sales tax has been remitted to the department the computer store adjusts its gross receipts for July. If the adjustment exceeds its July gross receipts, the computer store must submit an application for refund and an amended return for May.

(D) A manufacturer discovers it paid tax on its purchase of a piece of equipment that qualified for an expanded plant exemption. The manufacturer purchased the equipment from an equipment supply company who reported the tax to the department. The supply company must request the refund from the department on behalf of the manufacturer by submitting a refund application, the manufacturer’s exemption certificate and an invoice of the sale.

(E) In March 1999, a taxpayer discovers it paid tax on a January 1996 sale for which it has an exemption certificate. The taxpayer submits a refund application for the exempt sale. Because the due date of the original January 1996 return was February 20, 1996, the refund application will be denied because it is not within the three (3)-year statute of limitations.
6 CODE OF STATE REGULATIONS

(F) In 1997, an apartment complex under a non-domestic rate classification pays the water bill, including sales tax, to the utility company for the entire complex. The apartment complex may file a claim for refund on its 1997 purchases of water prior to April 15, 1998.

(G) A nursing home that is under a non-domestic rate classification pays for the electricity, including tax for the entire facility in 1996, 1997 and 1998. The electric company may file a claim for refund on behalf of the nursing home in January 1999, as long as it is filed within three (3) years of the due date of the earliest return.

(H) The department begins an audit on a taxpayer on June 1, 1999, that will cover the tax periods May 1996 through May 1999. The department and the taxpayer may enter into an agreement to extend the period for issuing an assessment and for filing a claim for refund for a specified period of time. The agreement must be made before the original expiration date for issuing the assessment or claiming the refund and may be extended by subsequent agreements.

12 CSR 10-110.900 Farm Machinery and Equipment Exemptions

PURPOSE: Sections 144.030.2(22), 144.045.1 and 144.047, RSMo, exempt certain farm machinery, equipment, repair parts and lubricants from taxation. This rule explains which items qualify for these exemptions.

(1) In general, the purchase of farm machinery, equipment, repair parts and supplies used exclusively and directly for producing crops, raising and feeding livestock, fish or poultry or producing milk for ultimate sale at retail is exempt from tax.

(2) Definition of Terms.

(A) Farm machinery—Machinery and equipment used directly and exclusively in the agricultural production process.

(B) Repair and replacement parts—Items of tangible personal property that are components of exempt farm machinery and equipment. Included in the repair and replacement part category are batteries, tires, fan belts, muffs, spark plugs, oil filters, plow points, standard type motors and cutting parts.

(3) Basic Application of Exemption.

(A) To qualify for exemption pursuant to section 144.030.2(22), RSMo, items purchased must be—

1. Used exclusively for agricultural purposes;

2. Used on land owned or leased for the purpose of producing farm products;

3. Used directly in producing farm products to be sold ultimately in processed form or otherwise at retail or in producing farm products to be fed to livestock or poultry to be sold ultimately in processed form at retail.

The term “used directly” encompasses items that are used in some manner prior to the actual commencement of production, during production, or in some manner after the production has terminated. In determining whether items are used directly, consideration must be given to the following factors:

A. Where the items in question are used;

B. When the items in question are used; and

C. How the items in question are used to produce a farm product and

D. Pursuant to section 144.045.1, RSMo, farm machinery or equipment that would otherwise qualify as exempt farm machinery and equipment will not lose its exempt status merely because the machinery or equipment is attached to a vehicle or real property. Such equipment includes, but is not limited to, a grinder mixer mounted on a vehicle or special livestock flooring. When exempt farm machinery or equipment attached to a motor vehicle is sold with the motor vehicle, the part of the total sales price attributable to the farm machinery or equipment is exempt from tax if the farm machinery or equipment is separately invoiced.

(E) The fact that particular items may be considered to be essential or necessary will not automatically entitle them to exemption. The following categories of items are excluded from the meaning of the term farm machinery and farm equipment and are subject to tax:

1. Under no circumstances can a motor vehicle or trailer ever be treated as tax exempt farm machinery. The terms motor vehicle and trailer are defined by the titling and licensing laws of Missouri (Chapter 301);

2. Containers and storage devices such as oil and gas storage tanks, pails, buckets and cans;

3. Hand tools and hand-operated equipment such as wheelbarrows, hoes, rakes, pitchforks, shovels, brooms, wrenches, pliers and grease guns;

4. Consumable items such as antifreeze, freon, ether, and starter fluid;

5. Attachments and accessories not essential to the operation of the machinery itself (except when sold as part of the assembled unit) such as cigarette lighters, radios, canopies, air-conditioning units, cabs, deluxe seats, tool or utility boxes and lubricators;

6. Equipment used in farm management such as communications and office equipment, repair, service, security or fire protection equipment;

7. Drainage tile, fencing material, building materials, general heating, lighting and ventilation equipment for nonproduction areas; and

8. Machinery and equipment used for a dual purpose, one purpose being agricultural and the other being nonagricultural are not exempt.

(F) Schedule A is a list of items of farm machinery and equipment which will usually be exempt if used exclusively for agricultural purposes on land owned or leased for the purpose of producing farm products and used directly in producing farm products or livestock to be sold ultimately at retail.

(4) Examples.

(A) An implement dealer sells a soilmover to a farmer. The soilmover is going to be used on low-lying agricultural land exclusively for the purpose of controlling drainage. The sale of the soilmover is exempt.

(B) A farmer purchases a combine. The farmer later purchases an AM/FM radio to be installed on the combine. The farmer’s purchase of the combine is exempt; however, the farmer’s purchase of the AM/FM radio is taxable. If the radio had been a part of the assembled unit, the total price for the combine would have been exempt.

(C) A farmer purchases a lawnmower. The farmer uses the lawnmower to mow around grain bins, as well as mow his lawn. The purchase of the lawnmower is subject to tax, since the lawnmower is not used exclusively and directly for agricultural production.

(D) A farmer purchases a water chiller for use to control the climate inside the hatchers and setters. The water chiller is also used to cool the administrative areas in the hatchery. The purchase of the water chiller is subject to tax, since it is not used exclusively for agricultural production.

(E) A farmer takes his tractor to the implement dealer for routine maintenance, which includes changing the oil, filters and antifreeze. The sale of the oil and filters would be exempt; however, the antifreeze would be subject to tax.

(F) A farmer buys a bale spike to be installed on his pickup truck. The bale spike is not subject to tax.

(G) A farm supply store sells commercial rabbitry equipment, such as feeders, nest boxes and wire hanging cages used for rabbit cages and feeders, to a farmer who raises rabbits in confinement for human consumption. These items are not subject to tax.
