INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE

There is no standard method of inquiring about alcohol or drug abuse, during the initial work-up. Many health care providers find it most comfortable and natural to introduce this line of questioning after inquiring about matters of general health and dietary habits. In this way, it is easy to progress from over-the-counter and prescribed medications to tobacco, alcohol and finally, the illicit substances. Alternatively, the subject can be introduced during the family history; by inquiring about the substance use/abuse of immediate family members and progressing to the habits of the individual. The assessment is designed to move quickly but efficiently, by highlighting any "red flags" which identify women at risk for substance use and who therefore, require further evaluation.

Although, this form is not a required component of the permanent medical record, it may be retained in the client's chart to document the assessment and it's results, as well as the date, location and name of the provider.

CRITERIA FOR REFERRAL

A definite referral should be offered to all women who:

1) respond affirmatively to two or more of questions 7 through 10 or questions 12 through 15, OR
2) respond affirmatively to recent use or continued use despite awareness of their pregnancy status.

If referral is refused, she should be reassessed at each subsequent visit and again, offered referral based on her status.

Periodic reassessment should be offered to those women who:

1) have a history of prior heavy use of alcohol or other drugs, but deny current use or use since their pregnancy status was known to them, OR
2) have significant psycho-social risk factors; such as a positive family history for substance abuse, physical or sexual abuse, lack of academic success, lack of peer or social support systems, lack of economic independence, friends who use drugs, co-dependency, depression, history of prostitution or multiple STD's etc.

Regular monitoring may provide the pregnancy client with sufficient motivation to persevere in their attempts to discontinue use, if the benefits of abstinence are stressed and any positive results are reinforced.

ALTERNATIVE TERMINOLOGY FOR ILLICIT SUBSTANCES

For those drugs listed under question number 11, it may be more appropriate to utilize the "street names" or slang terminology which is most prevalent in your area. For your convenience, several alternatives are suggested below:

1) Marijuana - grass, weed, joint, reefer, kid, herb, hashish, hash oil.
2) Cocaine - coke, crack, base, blow, toot, rock, snow, uptown.
3) Amphetamines - meth, crank, uppers, speed, crystal, ice, dex, black beauties, bennies, copilots, beans.
